Three Emerge Atop GOP For Senate Race

LANSING (AP) — Congressman Robert Griffin, R-Mich., State Sen. Guy VanderJagt, R-Cadillac, and Prof. Leroy Augenstein of Michigan State University emerged as leaders in the race for the Republican nomination for United States Senate today.

Gov. George Romney said at his news conference that the three were far ahead of all other candidates on a list of 25 voted on at a weekend meeting of the Republican State Central Committee.

"They got significantly more support than any of the others," Romney said. In answer to a question, he said one of the three got more than half the votes. He declined to say who.

Romney and Mrs. Elly Peterson, Republican state chairman, have called a meeting of party leaders for Feb. 19 for a second-round vote on the three front-runners.

"We have decided to ask the three to appear at the meeting," Romney said.

Romney said they would invite members of the state central committee, county and district chairmen and representatives of elected officers to gather in Lansing for the balloting.

The voting is aimed at getting what Romney calls "substantial unanimity"—or 75 per cent of the vote—for one candidate. Meeting at St. Clair, party leaders decided to try for agreement on a preferred candidate rather than go into an open primary.

The candidate will get a try at the seat held by 72-year-old Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich.

Castro Attacks Peking Policies, Break Possible

HAVANA (AP) — A slashing attack on Red China by Prime Minister Fidel Castro raised the possibility today of a break in diplomatic relations between Havana and Peking.

The Cuban capital buzzed with speculation about what would be Chinese reaction to the blistering broadside Castro lashed out Sunday. Castro accused the Chinese of extortion, blackmail, subversion, aggression, strangulation, hypocrisy, cynicism, deception, dishonesty, disrespect and treason.

Some diplomats and political experts expected a quick diplomatic break. Others thought China would suspend trade relations, cutting off what much-needed rice Peking is still shipping to Cuba.

Bombing Plans Surpass Korea

HONOLULU (AP) — Bombing in store for the Communists in North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam this month will far outstrip the intensity of such U.S. attacks on Red enemies in the Korean War, high U.S. officials said today.

They said the tonnage of bombs planned to be dropped on Communist positions and forces for all of February will total 2½ times that of any month in the Korean War.

Also, they said, the number of sorties in prospect for February will be 50 per cent higher than in any month of the Korean War.

The officials said that the proportion of the bombing against the Communist forces in South Viet Nam is between four and five to one over such operations in the North.

They said the United States has "unlimited capabilities" to hit the North but that "we could quadruple our operations in the North and it would not have the desired effect" of ending the communist insurgency in the South.

While comparing this month's air war level with that of the Korean War, officials did not furnish any hard statistics on actual bomb tonnages or numbers of sorties.

Doctor Convicted Of Murder Try

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Dr. Robert E. Boehme, a three-married physician, was convicted Sunday night of attempting to kill his wife by giving her an injection.

The formal charge was first-degree assault with intent to kill. It carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison.

Erhard Confers With de Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard arrived today and began talks with President Charles de Gaulle on the Common Market and other issues affecting the unity of Western Europe.

French sources said nothing special was coming up at the semi-annual meeting provided for under the French-German friendship pact.

Castro lashed out in reply to Chinese charges that he led when he declared Jan. 2 that Peking had reneged on a sugar-for-rice agreement.

Amplifying his charges, he said Peking had in effect joined the "Yankee imperialist economic blockade" of Cuba by drastically reducing trade with Havana.

Asserting the disagreement involved more than rice and sugar, he said: "It is a more important and fundamental question, and that is whether in the world of tomorrow the powerful countries can assume the right of blackmail, extortion, pressure, aggression and strangulation of other smaller countries."

Castro capped his attack with charges that Peking sought to subvert Cuba's armed forces by "a massive distribution of propaganda materials in our country."

Contacts Ripped

Castro charged further that Chinese officials had tried to contact "Cuban officials here and in some cases approached officials in an apparent effort to win them over personally with the intent of making them converts to their cause or perhaps to obtain information."

Castro said he told China's envoy that Cuba had freed itself from a country only 90 miles away and "was not disposed to accept" the attempt of "another powerful state 6,000 miles away to impose similar practices."

Castro also rejected China's implication that Cuba was a satellite of the Soviet Union.

"We are satellites of no one," he declared, "nor shall we ever be."

The Havana-Peking dispute began last November when China rejected a Cuban request for 280,000 tons of rice, refused to export 800,000 tons of Cuban sugar and turned down a request from Havana for extended trade loans.

U Thant, Pope Work For New Peace Attempt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant and Pope Paul VI were reported working independently today to get nonaligned governments to take an active role in the drive for a Viet Nam peace settlement.

Thant was understood to be seeking neutral help in setting up a conference of eight parties to include the Viet Cong. Others would be Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Red China, the United States, North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

The pontiff is trying to organize a summit conference of neutral nations in Geneva to mediate for an end to the war.

Thant has been conferring with envoys of nonaligned states over the past two weeks. He apparently feels the neutrals can overcome the obstacles to bringing the eight parties together.

Problems Cited

The main difficulties are: Communist avowals that the United Nations has no right to deal with Viet Nam; Soviet coolness to British proposals that the two nations, as co-chairmen of the Geneva accords on Viet Nam, reconvene the Geneva conferences; apparent unavailability of the United States to accept the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at the conference table; and North Viet Nam's recent insistence that the National Liberation Front be the only representative of the South Vietnamese people at any conference.

The U.N. Security Council has agreed to a U.S. request to debate Viet Nam but is delaying the debate while private consultations are held to promote a Geneva conference.

Soviets Protest

The Soviet Union has asserted the council has no business debating Viet Nam. It has made plain it will veto, if necessary, a U.S. resolution calling on the council to get a new Geneva parley on Viet Nam going.

Diplomats speculated that if the African members of the 15-nation Security Council put in a substitute resolution implying criticism of U.S. military action in Viet Nam but proposing a settlement, the Soviets might let it pass. The African members are Mali, Nigeria and Uganda.

Pope Paul began making contact with nonaligned governments shortly after his recommendation Jan. 29 for U.N. arbitration through neutral nations.

Papal envoys have relayed the pontiff's proposal for a neutral summit meeting to the Swiss and Austrian governments. Both nations gave a positive response, and Austria said it had consulted other states. Among those reported polled by Austria were Sweden, Finland and Syria.

President Resumes Talks With Vietnamese Leaders

Johnson Urges Strong Stand Against Reds

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson swung into talks today with top leaders of South Viet Nam after taking a stand-and-fight stance in a sharp reply to critics at home.

U. S. officials said civilian programs would be emphasized during the historic strategy conference that winds up Tuesday. However, Johnson and his visitors stressed military determination in public statements.

Johnson, welcoming the Vietnamese with martial honors Sunday night, said the United States must stand firm against Hanoi and the Viet Cong guerrillas or "we will have to fight again some place else — at what cost no one knows."

Nguyen Van Thieu, South Viet Nam's head of state, responded: "Your words have gone beyond the usual welcoming address, for they told Viet Nam and the world of a renewed and much stronger determination on the part of the United States to draw a line and stop Communist aggression in Viet Nam, and now."

Scorns "Retreatists"

Johnson, in greeting Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky at airport ceremonies, voiced scorn for "special pleaders who counsel retreat in Viet Nam."

"They belong to a group that has always been blind to experience and deaf to hope," Johnson said.

The President argued that it is as important now to resist communism in Viet Nam as it was to oppose it in Europe after World War II.

"Our stand must be as firm as ever," he said.

Thieu was reported determined to argue here for a hard-line military policy, including intensified direct moves against North Viet Nam. He revised his arrival speech en route from Saigon after getting advance word of what Johnson planned to say.

Plan Social Progress

Ever since the hasty launching of the policy conference with a presidential announcement Friday, American officials had intended the meetings to center around plans to improve and expand the social and economic progress of the Saigon government.

They said no important military decisions would be worked out.

The roster of conferees from both countries was heavy with experts anxious to press for political and social progress in Viet Nam, with the aim of strengthening the appeal of the government there.

However, there were indications — at least in huddles among American officials — that future military policy would get a full hearing.

More Troops Wanted

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. commander in Viet Nam, conferred at length with the President and indicated at a news conference that he wants more U. S. troops sent to Viet Nam to invade Communist strongholds and shatter the enemy's "main force" elements, estimated at about 77,000 men.

Asked how many additional troops he thought he would need, the U. S. military chief in Viet Nam replied: "This is a matter I look forward to discussing with Secretary McNamara during the coming days. This is a matter under constant study."

The United States now has more than 197,000 fighting men in South Viet Nam. There have been estimates that the American strength may rise to about 400,000 by next summer, and possibly more later.

Communist comment on the Honolulu conference followed predictable lines.

North Viet Nam said the conference will fail since "the United States has used up all its wonder-working devices."

The Viet Cong charged that the purpose of the meeting was to intensify and expand the war.

Rest Home Blaze Kills Five, Raises Nation's Toll To 30

By The Associated Press

A rest home fire on Long Island today took five lives, close on the heels of Sunday's tragic Negro slum fire in Miami which claimed the lives of 10 — seven of them small children.

Today's fire in the Senior House rest home at Bay Shore, N.Y., a converted mansion on Long Island, brought the total of deaths in major fires in the nation to at least 30 for the two days.

A family of five burned to death as fire ravaged their home in Hohenwald, Tenn.

Two other Minnesota towns claimed six victims ranging in age from 7 months to 15 years.

A couple and two of their three children perished in Helmetta, N.J., when their wooden ranch-style home went up in flames.

A Chicago fire which broke out in two adjoining three-story hotels on the South Side forced 100 persons from their beds in 23-degree cold. Three persons were hospitalized and three others, including a fireman, received medical aid.

"Mamma, Save Me"

Fire and police officials blamed the Miami blaze — in a 40-year-old building in the city's Negro slum area — on a kerosene stove explosion. Four of the dead children were from one family and three from another. The parents escaped.

"There was lots of hollering and screaming and people running outside, and it was the screams of the children that got me the most," said Vernon L. Ward, a neighborhood resident.

"One little girl I never can forget is the thing I'll face at the window screaming 'Mamma, save me, mamma, save me,'" Ward said.

Police Sgt. Dennis Watkins said Willie Ross, 61, one of the victims, alone in a downstairs rear room, apparently had been drinking and "fooling around with the kerosene heater."

"We don't know whether he tipped it over and spilled some kerosene and it then caught fire or whether he just knocked it over and it exploded," Watkins said.

Dead Identified

The other dead: Will Mitchell, 60; W. D. Shotton, 35; Frank Pearson Jr., 6, his brother Christopher, 5, and two sisters, Collier, 19 months, and Sylvia, 4; John Washington, 6, his brother Ronnie, 17 months, and his sister Shiela, 4.

Dying in the Hohenwald, Tenn., fire were Guy Whittenberg, 37, and his wife, Betty, 33, daughters Judy, 5, and Katy, 8, and Whittenberg's father, W.C. Whittenberg, 68.

Cavalry, Marines Link During Push

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U. S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, wheeled inland today into the An Lao Valley, a tortuous gorge held by the Communists for a decade, after a dramatic linkup with U. S. Marines.

The two American forces met 18 miles north of Bong Son as the largest Allied operation of the war tried to close the net on two Red regiments believed in the area.

After morning fog and rain cleared up, two brigades of the helicopter-equipped air cavalry drew the assignment of scouring the An Lao Valley. South Vietnamese troops tried to penetrate the valley 15 months ago and failed.

Only scattered fire from small arms and automatic weapons came from the Communists at the onset. One Viet Cong was reported killed and 14 captured. Punji stakes, sharpened bamboo poles concealed in the ground, caused some injuries among the American cavalrymen.

Jets Raid North

The skies cleared late Sunday over North Viet Nam and U. S. Air Force jets penetrated 300 miles above the border to hit the old French fortress of Dien Bien Phu on the eve of the start of the American air attacks a year ago. U.S. spokesmen reported 750-pound bombs left the airport runway heavily cratered.

The jets also hit a barracks and storage area and destroyed 12 buildings, a spokesman said. Sixty per cent of the military complex at the base was reported knocked out.

Other Air Force planes hit

At Helmetta, N.J., the victims were Robert N. Longelli, 20; his wife, Evelyn, 21; their sons Robert Jr., 2, and James, 6 months. The couple's other child was staying with his grandparents.

Flames raced through the South Side duplex of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard in Minneapolis. Smoke inhalation killed their two children, age 21 months and 7 months. The parents were badly injured.

Two Children Die

In Fergus Falls, Minn., two children, a 15-year-old girl and a 5-year-old boy, died in a fire which destroyed their two-story home. A brother, 18, escaped.

In Gonvick, Minn., Daniel Faldet, 4, and his brother, Jeffrey, 3, were killed when fire swept their home. Four others were injured in the blaze.

Strength Estimated

The U. S. Command announced today that U.S. forces in South Viet Nam now total 200,000, including 128,000 Army, 10,000 Navy and Coast Guard, 38,000 Marines and 25,000 Air Force. Another 60,000 men in the 7th Fleet are providing carrier air support, particularly against North Viet Nam.

The South Viet Nam government claims to have 300,000 men in its regular army, regional forces of about the same number. The regional and popular units are the equivalent of militia with a minimum of training and equipment.

The Viet Cong are variously estimated at around 250,000. North Viet Nam is believed to have added upwards of 10 regiments, possibly 12,000 men. The Hanoi regime has a regular army of 280,000, intelligence sources report, but can call on another million men who have had training.

Robbed Of $300: Young Assailant Beats Aged Man

A husky young man "jumped" 73-year-old William "Bill" Arbagy of 207 N. 18th St., struck him in the face when he called for help, and then fled after robbing Arbagy of more than $300 in Escanaba Saturday evening.

Arbagy's condition at St. Francis Hospital today was described as "fairly good" and he is permitted visitors.

The assault and robbery occurred at 7:50 p.m. Saturday at the south alley in the 1800 block, 3rd Ave. N., Escanaba police reported.

Police said the elderly man had supper at the Eat Shop at 7:15 and left after paying for his meal with a $1 bill.

He walked west on Ludington St. to 18th St. and was at the alley on 3rd Ave. N. when a man ran up and jumped on him from behind, he told police. Arbagy was knocked down in the snow and cried for help, but his assailant sat on him and each time Arbagy cried out the attacker struck him in the face.

After extracting the wallet from Arbagy's pocket, the young man jumped up and ran away. He was described as "husky," between 20 and 25 years old, about five feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 175 pounds. Arbagy gave additional descriptive information to officers.

The shouts of the elderly man were heard by Robert J. Dufour of 319 N. 18th St., who responded and found Arbagy crawling on his hands and knees, unable to rise.

Larry Rubin Protests

Peninsula Hurt By Bridge Toll 'Barrier' Talk

Lawrence Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, told the U.P. Chapter of the National Society of Professional Engineers dining at the Sherman Hotel Saturday evening that he hoped the newest round of Mackinac Bridge toll talk was over because it is hurting the Upper Peninsula.

"These legislative debates," said Rubin "generate a great deal of heat, but not much light. The choice of words and the unsupported allegations made about the bridge toll and the economy of the Upper Peninsula would lead the average citizen to conclude that only the Rockefellers and the Kennedys could afford to make the crossing. And that the people of the Upper Peninsula were economically on a level with the inhabitants of L'il Abner's Dogpatch."

"One well-intended citizen, not satisfied with disgracing the Upper Peninsula as an economic Appalachia, resorted to the international arena to dredge out his figure of speech for publicity purposes. He referred to the bridge as an economic Berlin Wall. Bridge Authority Chairman Prentiss M. Brown took him to task for this comparison and asked which side of the bridge he considered communist? The unfortunate part of all this ill wind is that it does not blow anybody any good, particularly the Upper Peninsula."

"I suggest that we should be talking in terms of our attractions, which are positively unique in the Midwest and all worth the bridge toll to see. Last year 1.3 million vehicles crossed the bridge. Some 4.2 million individuals went in and out of the Upper Peninsula — more than half the population of Michigan."

"Concentrated in the Upper Peninsula are the greatest number of tourist attractions in any single area of the United States: Brockway Mountain Drive and the Copper Country, Lake of the Clouds, Bays de Noc, the Pictured Rocks, Tahquamenon Falls, Kitch-iti-Kipi Springs, the Snow Islands, the Soo Locks, Mackinac Island, scores of waterfalls, hundreds of lakes, historical lore of incomparable interest and the Mackinac Bridge."

"I challenge any other area to offer similar advantages and I suggest that it is well worth the $3.75 to cross the Straits of Mackinac to enjoy these attractions."

Efforts To Save

"This is not to say that the tolls shouldn't be reduced. It was the Mackinac Bridge Authority, led by Chairman Brown, who took the only sound and sensible steps to pave the way for toll reduction since the bridge has been opened. "The same day the Mackinac Bridge Authority accepted the bid for its bonds at a net interest cost of 4.26 per cent, the Indiana Toll Road Commission accepted a bid of 3.75 per cent on its borrowing of some $300 million. Today's bond quotations on Mackinac's are 3 to 5 per cent above par while Indiana's are offered at 7 points below par."

"Except 1958, the first four years of bridge operation on the heels of the 1958 recession were substantially below the traffic engineers' estimates of traffic. The Authority began to look for ways of refunding during the late 1950s and getting the tolls reduced. The bond market was suffering a serious slump."

"Then at the Constitutional Convention Chairman Brown urged that the Legislature by two-thirds vote and with the approval of the Governor be authorized to issue general obligation bonds to redeem successful and well-seasoned revenue bonds, such as those issued by the Highway Department, the universities and the Mackinac Bridge. Michigan had about $900 million of these revenue bonds outstanding and by converting all or part of them millions of dollars in interest cost annually could be saved.

"The Constitutional Convention limited the refunding to the Mackinac Bridge bonds only. Legislation was introduced by a bi-partisan group in 1964 and did not even come out of committee. It could have refunded at an interest rate of 3 per cent or less and tolls could have been reduced to $2.25 or $2."

"There are other ways of reducing tolls in addition to refunding. The Legislature could grant a subsidy to reduce tolls. There is the Governor's suggestion about the weight tax which many persons consider ill-advised because it would fall exclusively on Michigan motorists while permitting the 30 per cent of outstate drivers to cross without cost. The possibility of federal aid has been pretty well explored and exploded, as far as the Authority is concerned."

Two Arrested For Break-Ins

Two Escanaba young men were taken into custody at 2 a.m. today by Escanaba police and are held in the Delta County Jail to await arraignment in Municipal Court to a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

The arraignment was scheduled for 3 p.m., said Police Chief Harold Finman.

They are Leroy Johnson, 25, of the Metropolitan Hotel, and Rodger Buckley, 19, of 1412 3rd Ave. N.

Their arrest is in connection with the breaking and entering of the Bonfield Furniture store on Dec. 12, 1965, and the Peltin Furniture store late Saturday or early Sunday this weekend.

At Peltin's money and merchandise valued at $350 was taken; and at Bonfield's the loss was about $500 in cash and checks from the safe. The method of entering the buildings was the same in both cases — the smashing of glass in overhead doors at the rear of the store.

Working on a tip, police arrested both men at 2 a.m. today and lodged them in jail to await formal charges and arraignment. Some of the merchandise has been recovered, officers said.

Two-Year Term:

Chase To Seek Seat On Council

Cecil B. Chase of 2215 Lake Shore Drive today announced that he is a candidate for the Escanaba City Council and intends to file for the two-year unexpired term of Jacob A. Bink, who recently resigned from the Council for reasons of health.

"I have not yet taken out the nominating petitions for the two-year term, but I am leaning in that direction rather than the four-year full term," Chase said in announcing his candidacy.

On April 5 the voters of Escanaba will elect two councilmen for terms of four years and one for the unexpired term of two years.

Councilmen Harold Vanlerberghe and Glenn Moreau, whose terms expire this spring, have both announced they will seek reelection.

Hold-over members of the five-man Council are Mayor George Rusch and Councilman H. George Nelson.

Chase, a resident of Escanaba for more than 40 years, will be making his second bid for a seat on the Council. He was a candidate first in 1964.

Actively interested in civic and service affairs of the community, Chase is a member of the Escanaba Civil Service Commission, a position to which he was appointed in May of 1964; and is chairman of the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Chase was born in Forest

He has been employed with Clairmont Transfer Co. since 1948 and is a senior rate clerk. Our War In Asia

President Johnson's flight to Hawaii for a conference on the war in South Viet Nam diverts public attention from the thunder in Washington, where the administration's war policies have come under increasing questioning and criticism. The conference may have been timed politically to achieve this diversion, but it serves a much more serious purpose.

Besides conferring with leaders of the South Viet Nam government on the war, the President wished to counter the Asiatic image of America as the bully guy telling its little ally what to do. He wanted to confer—in the public eye—with Vietnamese leaders and he wanted to give emphasis to the American intention to aid that troubled country economically as well as militarily.

Nothing that happens in Honolulu is apt to change the course of the war in Viet Nam. Only decisions made in Hanoi, and in Peking, can change that. President Johnson has committed the United States to a long, hard war in Viet Nam unless the communists withdraw their Viet Cong guerrilla forces and regular North Viet Nam army forces.

The President has not ordered all-out war with the resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam because he has asked the United Nations to assume a peace making role in the conflict and all-out war would not serve that end.

The resumption of bombing after the 5-week lull to give our peace emissaries a chance to work on the communists through intermediary countries was ordered despite heavy pressures upon the President to continue the peace pause. He had no real choice in the matter and had to renew the bombing because the pause, while it worked some good with world opinion about America's role in the war, was used by the communists to rebuild bombed roads and bridges and other facilities and to beef up their forces and armaments in South Viet Nam.

Further delay in bombing would also have encouraged the belief of Red leaders that there's some indecision in America about the war. There is some indecision, of course, but it is about strategy, not commitment. Some of our military leaders—not now in command—want us to pull back to shore positions and wait it out; keeping the communists from taking over the country, but not striking deep enough into the north to hurt North Viet Nam severely and risk bringing Red China into the war.

Everyone is very unhappy about the war and wishing that somewhere along the line we had made another decision that would, by some miracle, have achieved our ends (protection of South Viet Nam from Red conquest) without committing us to a land war in Asia which could be endless. But it is significant that the critics of present government policy do not suggest that we get on our boats and go home.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk says we're applying in Viet Nam the policy on containment of communism which President Truman ordered in 1947, saying: "I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures."

Clearly the United States cannot rush like a fireman to every problem created by the communists; that sort of defense would soon defeat us. But when we do commit ourselves to a test with communism we cannot bug out without very serious consequences. It's been suggested by the "doves" that the British had to do it in their Empire and the French in Algeria, but we are not confronted by the South Vietnamese with an indigenous aspiration for nationhood. They have that. Their problem is that the commies are determined to take over the southern part of the divided country as well as the northern part, no matter what its own people want.

U.S. Senator Jacob Javits went to Viet Nam to see for himself. He's a Republican and if his findings had been otherwise it would have provided a handy opportunity to blast the Johnson Administration for its war policies. President Johnson's own fellow Democrat, Senator Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, has expressed fears of a "bottomless Asian land war."

But Javits said "The impact of our (military) buildup is just beginning to be felt" and most South Vietnamese now believe that the Viet Cong will be defeated. They didn't think so a year ago. "I believe the struggle in Viet Nam is worthy of the United States," said Javits. "I believe it is worthy of the cause of freedom. I believe it needs to be waged and I believe it deserves the support of the liberals. South Viet Nam is the zone of contact in the struggle for the freedom of Asia, and those who see it as anything else are fooling themselves."

Bob Tells How

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Most of the stories came at a "friendship dinner" from the fat file of David Boston for former JFK presidential aide Kenneth O'Donnell, Sen. Robert Kennedy of Massachusetts, said he:

"When I moved from Massachusetts to New York, my brother Ted said I pleased the politicians in both states."

Edward (Ted) Kennedy, senator from Massachusetts, paid his own tribute to O'Donnell. In an unveiled reference to White House aide Marvin Watson's recently abandoned surveillance over the names of incoming telephone callers to staff members, Kennedy said:

"When Kenny was running things, he didn't have to keep a list of those who called. He just remembered. And once a week, he took confession from the staff."

One of the jovial guests at the O'Donnell dinner was Michael DiSalle, former Democratic governor of Ohio. In the story — telling spirit of the evening, he offered this one:

"Two men were walking together one Sunday afternoon. One said 'Did you hear that Morrissey joined the Republican party?' The other replied: 'I don't believe it. I saw him in a church only this morning.'"

One sample from Powers: "At a precinct caucus there were two candidates for leadership: Sullivan and Swenson. Voting were 107 Irishmen and three Swedes. When the votes were cast, Sullivan got 107 and Swenson three."

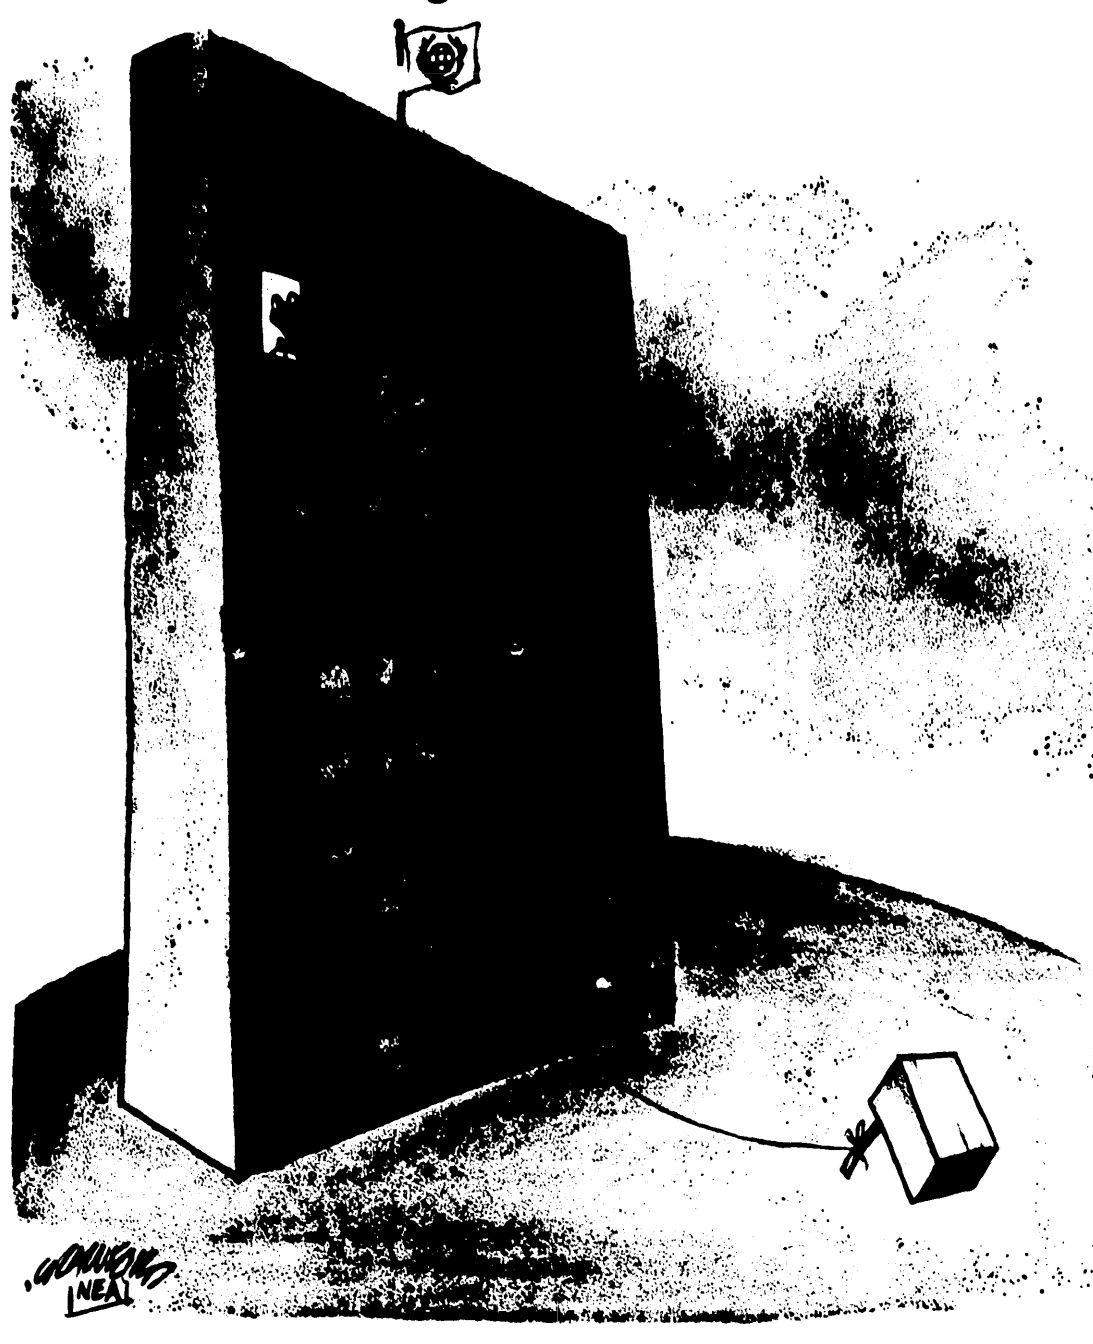

"A little later Sullivan commented to a friend: 'Say those Swedes are a clannish lot, aren't they?'"

Another Powers anecdote as he introduced Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana:

"When the late President Kennedy visited Butte, Mont., during the 1960 campaign, I was surprised to see so many Irish names on the main street store fronts. I said to Mike: 'Senator, Butte looks to me like the Boston of the West.' He answered: 'No Dave, Boston is the Butte of the East.'"

At this well-timed juncture, head table guest Richard Goodwin, former White House aide, topped off the dais as his chair edged too close to the side. The chatter caught Powers' ear and he asked: "Was it that good, Dick?"

"It's a Little White Bird with a Twig in Its Mouth!"

U.P. Wolves Do Three Things

By LEE SMITH
Lloyd Schenauer, Conservation Department game biologist, didn't say what he had in mind when he telephoned from Newberry to the Soo, suggesting that Bob Strong, game biologist, deliver me to the Village of Strong's early on a wintry morning. We started out near the locality where Bob had sighted on the Lake Superior ice shelf last winter a pair of timber wolves, the only pair reported on the Michigan mainland for several years.

Tracking conditions were perfect, a little more than a foot of soft snow, the top layer a few hours old. Driving at moderate speed over a plowed stretch of blacktop paralleling the lake shore we could easily check the recent travels of animals along the way: deer, porcupine, snowshoe hare, weasel, mink. Lloyd observed that deer were not tightly yarded but were scouting for browse in the hardwood second-growth.

We spotted them at the same time, the big paw marks, nearly 30 inches apart. As Lloyd braked the station wagon to a stop, I knew what he had been looking for. We were on the eastern border of the big Naamigon deer-yard. Wolves were using the road as a runway. We picked up three fresh tracks on top of older tracks, going in both directions. One was a big male, his track more than five inches across.

For five miles we had the easiest tracking imaginable, wolves going straight along the hard-top. Any time a track swerved off the runway, we made a detour on snowshoes to investigate. Once or twice one of the wolves would follow deer tracks for a short distance. Once we saw a big deer, quarter of a mile away, going full speed across the road, a scared deer, and we could guess that fresh wolf scent might have scared him.

These wolves weren't hunting, they were traveling. They had made a side trip to visit a dump, but had picked up nothing, as far as we could see. A weasel and ravens had explored the dump.

But what really excites the wolves were proceeding most of the time at a trot, now and then they opened up into the lope that will carry a wolf 50 miles in a night. We came to where the tracks separated, no longer proceeding single-file. Here the wolves had taken time out for play.

I was in the woods years ago with a famous wolverine, H. P. Williams, of the old United States Biological Survey. He told me that wolves devoted their time to three activities: killing and eating, sleeping, traveling. When they travel, he told me, they take a straight line that can be followed fairly well by compass, even on dry ground.

On Isle Royale I mentioned this piece of wolf wisdom to biologists working with Dr. Durward Allen of Purdue University on the study of moose and wolves. Dr. Allen said that my friend Williams had omitted an important wolf activity — play. Few adult animals continue with the play of their growing-up stage. Otters play, wolves play.

One of the strangest things witnessed by wolf-watchers on Isle Royale is play between wolves and ravens. Ravens follow wolves to feed on what the wolves leave after a kill. A wolf pack, sleeping on the Lake Superior ice, is usually accompanied by one or more ravens. From time to time a wolf or two will get up, going through an elaborate act of yawning and stretching, then pounce at a raven. They never catch the raven. They don't even scare the raven, which flies up just high enough to elude wolf jaws, then alights on the ice, a few feet from the pack.

But what really excites the

Today is Monday, Feb. 7, the 38th day of 1966. There are 327 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1885, in Sauk Center, Minn., author Sinclair Lewis was born.

And on this date:

In 1882, John L. Sullivan defeated Paddy Ryan in the last international bare knuckle championship fight.

In 1904, fire destroyed 2,600 buildings and virtually wiped out the business district of Baltimore.

In 1943, shoe rationing was ordered for the nation.

In 1944, the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga was launched at Newport News, Va.

One year ago—On order from President Johnson, 49 carrier-based fighter planes bombed the Dong Hoi military base in North Viet Nam.

The Doctor Says:

Remember Sled Rules

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstad

If you live near a hill which is far enough away from a road get your child a sled and let him coast.

Such hills, however, are getting scarcer every year. Even on such a hill, especially if it is steep, there is the danger that your child may plow into a tree. In towns and suburbs there is the added hazard of sliding into a fire hydrant, truck or pedestrian.

In any case, you should teach your youngster to recognize a dangerous speed. If he is lying down on his sled, he can then drag both feet on the ground for braking action. He should also be taught how to stop quickly by steering into a snow bank, dropping his hat under the runner of the sled or rolling off the sled completely.

In the "good old days" it was great fun to hitch a sled onto a horse-drawn vehicle—a practice frowned on by the vehicle's driver and not without danger. Hitching onto a truck or auto is even more hazardous, especially at intersections where another vehicle approaching at a right angle may see the truck but not the sled it is towing.

Other dangers involved in hitching are tangling of the rope when the child wants to release it, a sudden stop that propels the child under the a remedy

THANKS

The result of the school election on Feb. 1 was so clear cut that it is obvious it was a community victory. Success was the result of the hard work of so many groups and individuals that it is impossible to extend thanks to all separately. Perhaps in this manner thanks can go to all.

The radio statement made immediately after the results of the election were known, and repeated the following day, bothered some people because it thanked "the people of Escanaba" for the victory. Made under the influence of the exhilaration of the moment, and rather spontaneously, perhaps the statement was not thought out as well as it should have been. The reference to Escanaba in that case included the entire Escanaba Area School District. Certainly the people of the district living in township areas are included in any statement of gratitude. A vote there counts the same as a vote in the city.

So thank you to all persons in the entire school district who endorsed the school issues, who worked individually or in groups to get out the vote, and who voted "yes." The success is the result of total community action.

Luther M. Barrett
Superintendent of Schools

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 24-year-old girl with some unusual questions. I was raised in Kentucky. All my life I have been crazy about horses. I've had my own horse since I was 10 years old.

I have always wanted to ride from Kentucky to California by horseback. Is that such a crazy idea? I'm an excellent horsewoman and in good health. I would take my time and follow the highway road maps all the way. According to my calculations if I leave in May I could be in California by August.

The horse I would take is a registered stallion and I wouldn't ride him more than four or five hours a day the first week. (I could take more but maybe the horse couldn't.)

Each night we would stop and I'd knock on some doors and ask to be put up for the night. My parents are in favor of the trip but we want to know what you think about it. Please say it sounds O.K. I've been dreaming of this for years. — READY

Dear Ready: I see no reason why you should not make the trip but I urge you to check in advance about lodging. I don't know how the room clerks at the Conrad Hilton would react if they looked up and saw you and Trigger in the lobby.

Dear Readers: A writer who signed herself "Thumbs Down On European Husbands" had a lot to say against the Continental Spouse. She said ten years with the dingbat was enough — and now she is married to an American who treats her like a human being.

I invited comments from the readers and here are some samples from this week's mail: From Nebraska: I don't know anything about being married to a European, but I DO know something about being married to an American.

My husband is Cherokee Indian — and that's about as American as you can get. I am raising two boys and taking care of a large home. I do the laundry, ironing, cooking, cleaning, painting (inside and out), care for the lawn, put on storm windows and screens, and I work part time in town. My husband has never wiped a dish, carried a basket of laundry, made himself a cup of coffee or walked the floor with a sick child. Men are men the world over and there are good ones and bad ones in every country.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Narrative Puts Reds In Focus

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Kindergarten children sang, "We love the Communist party." Grade school children marched and chanted, "Yankees, get out of Viet Nam." College students, farmers and factory workers were doing military exercises. These were among the filmed sights in Sunday night's disturbing "Voice of the Dragon" on NBC. It was edited from material shot by a French camera team during a three-month trip through Red China.

Quite obviously, the film was made with the blessing of the Red Chinese government. There were earnest group leaders lecturing attentive students on Communist ideology, anti-American street demonstrations, hard-working peasants tilling fields and building roads. There were festivals and big gatherings and well-fed children.

There was a brief and almost unbelievable interview with an English-speaking Chinese who told of his family's former interests — banks, mines, lumber shipping — and then said he was proud of China now because it was strong.

Accompanying the films, however, was a penetrating narration written by Gerald Green. It cut through the puffery while discounting none of the terrible potentials of this nation of 700 million whose Communist rulers are systematically teaching its people to despise the United States.

With American reporters barred from Red China, films of life there are rare for television viewers. It was a most interesting hour.

DOLLARS DOWN UNDER—Australia is abandoning the quaint but cumbersome pounds, shillings and pence monetary system of Britain and switching to a decimal system based on a new Australian dollar worth $1.12 in U.S. currency. The $1 bill features a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II and the Australian coat of arms on the front and reproduces Australian aboriginal paintings and carvings on the back. Bill denominations will be $1, $2, $10 and $20.

Court Cost Law Defied In Court

HASTINGS (AP) — A new state law requiring judges to add 10 per cent in court costs to any fine they assess — other than for traffic or conservation violations — is being defied in Michigan's 5th Judicial Circuit. Judge Archie D. McDonald, who serves the Barry-Eaton County circuit, says the act is not enforceable because it takes away discretionary authority from the judges.

The act, known as the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council Act of 1965, became effective Jan. 1. It says an additional levy of 10 per cent is to be made for use in training law enforcement officers.

McDonald said the Legislature "easily" could have earmarked 10 per cent of a person's fine for the new training fund. He said the issue could be tested in appellate court.

LANSING (AP) — Charles Guenther has been named superintendent of the Conservation Department school at Higgins Lake. He succeeds Merrill Petoskey, transferred to the department's Lansing staff.

Travelure For '66 Is Bigger

The 1966 edition of the Travelure, a vacation guide to Michigan's Upper Peninsula, made its debut at the opening of National Boat, Sports and Vacation show in Detroit. The new guide was distributed at the Travelure booth until the show closed Sunday.

Hundreds of prospective tourists stopping at the Travelure booth expressed more than passing interest in the publication. "While this is the first time that the Travelure has been used to promote the Upper Peninsula through a sport-vacation show," Roy Tresidder, publisher, said, "We expect to make a continued use of this method of distribution. In addition to enabling us to sell the Upper Peninsula through the pages of the Travelure, it has allowed us to make many personal contacts with persons considering the U. P. for their vacation this year."

In comparing the new Travelure with the first edition, Tresidder commented: "Extensive changes have been made to upgrade the publication. This year's Travelure contains 104 pages in comparison with 64 last year. It includes many new features in full color. The new issue has approximately 300 photos pictorially highlighting tourist attractions of the Upper Peninsula."

In addition to distribution through sport and travel shows, the Travelure will be sent to travel agencies, chambers of commerce throughout the Midwest, to auto clubs and at points of entry into Michigan. Copies will be made available for local distribution about March 15.

The Travelure was produced in the Upper Peninsula by Globe Printing, Ishpeming. Page layout and design were produced under the direction of Eugene S. Sinervo, art director, for the publishing firm. Serving as account representative is Robert L. Helwig, who was employed for 20 years in the advertising division of Wainscot Printing, Detroit, before joining Globe Printing in 1965.

The Travelure, in addition to featuring Upper Peninsula's best-known attractions, provides information on recreational opportunities, camping, a guide for rockhounds, a listing of state parks, a waterfall pictorial page, mileage charts, and information on seasonal activities.

case Luna 9 was still broadcasting. But he said he thought any signals picked up would be the last from the first earth object to land undamaged on the moon.

Tass said that since Luna 9 made its historic landing on Thursday, Russian scientists have had seven radio communication periods with the moon rocket, totaling eight hours and five minutes.

"The unique television images of the lunar surface and the scientific information received from the probe will be studied and analyzed," the Soviet agency said.

"The results of this study will be published in the press."

Bursley Senate Quest Promoted

Student groups are being formed on campuses throughout Michigan to urge State Senator Gilbert E. Bursley (R-Ann Arbor) to seek the seat of U.S. Senator McNamara, a Democrat.

Paul Foote, a junior at the University of Michigan and state director of the "Students for Bursley for the U.S. Senate" groups, announced on Friday the selection of Associate Professor Frank Bacon as adviser for the newly-organized "MSU Students for Bursley for the U.S. Senate." The group plans to aid Bursley by arranging a speaking tour, providing a student campaign organization, and by helping to finance his campaign.

Bursley, a graduate of the University of Michigan and of Harvard's Business School, has done post graduate work in international relations at George Washington University. His military service in World War II and in the Korean War for the U.S. Army has taken him to Europe, the Middle East, Africa, and Asia. "Gil" retired from the Army as a lieutenant colonel to return to Michigan.

He was elected state representative from Ann Arbor in 1960 and in 1962. Since 1964, Bursley has been in Michigan's Senate. Bursley, the only Republican Senate committee chairman, recently returned from Europe with his Senate Committee on International Commerce. Since then, many business and student groups have invited Bursley to speak on the committee's efforts to boost Michigan's trade with Europe.

Horse Trader Bill Kell Of Wilson Dies, 79

BY JEAN WORTH
Billy Kell of Wilson is dead and so is the era of the work horse.

The little horse dealer with the big horses was one of the best known men of the mid-Upper Peninsula on its farms and logging camps a generation ago and he had a few horses in the big barns on his hilltop farm at Wilson until his death. Just keeping his hand in. Still trading a little horseflesh; unable to end the trade that he had practiced so well for so long that he got half-rich at it.

Billy had a heart attack last Thursday. They took him to St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba and he died there at 9:20 a.m. Sunday. He was 79.

William Kell was born at Wilson April 15, 1886, the son of pioneer settlers, Mr. and Mrs. William Kell, Sr. The father had come to the Wilson area from his native Canada to start a farm and making his living there before the Chicago & North Western Railway built its tracks past the new settlement on its way from Menominee to Escanaba in 1872. The father had carried ties to build the line.

Horse Trader
His mother was Margaret Jane Bagley Kell, daughter of another pioneer family, the Bagleys. Billy went to the little school at Wilson through the eighth grade and then worked in a livery barn in Gladstone for Thomas McDonough and Bruce Leslie in 1905. He later did teaming in logging camps for his brother, Jonathan Kell, north of LaBranche and on the Ford River near Northland. His lifetime association with the horse trade had started.

He was around horses from the time he was 18, in the summers only at first, and at 21 he became a full-time horse dealer. He bought the farm where he lived for so long from his late uncle, John Kell, Sr., when it contained only 67 acres and he enlarged his ownership in Spalding and Harris townships until it totaled 3,400 acres. Shortly before his death he was debating further acquisitions.

His landholdings checker-boarded out behind his big farm and he would seek a little encouragement from his friends at times for further acquisitions, saying that if he only had a strategic forty he could drive from his farm to Whitney without getting off his land. He logged his timberlands himself and ranged cattle on their openings.

Breed Experimenter
Persons who couldn't find him with his account books at his safe in the farmhouse, or out in the big horse barns, would take one of his private roads out onto "My Ponderosa" looking for him. He'd often be found with a little crew of Indians from the Hannahville Reservation cutting his pulpwood, or admiring his beef cattle.

He was an Angus breeder and a Hereford breeder, but he had the livestock trader's hopeless addiction to bargains and he was frequently experimenting with Brahma crosses or some other oddments of breeding, so that his herds provided a fascinating mixture of cattle in many colors, and with over-large ears and other features that might not have impressed the judges at the U. P. State Fair, but which tended to weigh out a profit at the beef sales.

But his big days at the U.P. Fair, which he served for years as a member of the Board of Managers, were the horse pulling days, because Billy Kell was first and last and always a horse fancier. He and his barn boss, Ed Zastrow, used to go to the Fair each year with great expectancy to see how their best teams matched up with the best that the U. P. and Northeastern Wisconsin could hitch onto the pulldometer. He had quite a few blue ribbons hanging in the barn to show that his horses were best in many years.

Thousands Of Horses
He was a short man, but well fleshed (as he'd say of a horse) and the way he walked into a stall with a big horse in it, slapping it a resounding whack on the rump — "You gotta let 'em know you're coming!" — showed his command of the big work animals. It was specially impressive, perhaps to a later generation that had grown up with automobiles and tractors and which didn't even know the lingo about "Belgians, Percherons and Shires."

Billy Kell sold thousands of horses. His barns held 150 and he usually had 75 head on hand when the trade was good. He made innumerable trips to the Dakotas and Iowa and other horse breeding areas and he had buyers in those places who kept the big work horses moving to his stables to supply the needs of a huge trade before World War I. The tractors were beginning to come in after that, and the trucks. Woods work still used a lot of horses, partly because so many of them were crippled in accidents. Billy lived to see almost total eclipse of the horse as a farm animal and the great rise of riding for pleasure. He sold riding horses, of course, but he always regarded them as mice compared with the great days of the big Belgians.

Funeral Wednesday
Billy Kell wed Miss Daisy M. Henderson of Eustis June 17, 1914 at Crystal Falls. She died several years ago.

He is survived by a brother, Milton Kell of Powers, several nieces and nephews. Friends may call at the Kell-Tondin Chapel in Spalding after 2 p.m. Tuesday and funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the funeral home and at 2 p.m. in Zion Episcopal Church with requiem. The Rev. George Portman will officiate and burial will be in Wilson Cemetery. There will be a litany service at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the funeral home.

Board To Talk Curriculum

The Escanaba Area Board of Education, its building and financial needs satisfied by positive votes on millage and bond issue elections, will turn its attention to school curriculum at its regular 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday at the School Administration Building.

Under consideration will be recommendations made by Orville Peterson, assistant superintendent, after an extensive review of the current curriculum.

Peterson has prepared four reports for the board after meeting with teachers from all grade levels and compiling results from a questionnaire circulated among teachers.

Purpose of the review is to update course offerings at the high school level and also to consider revision in desired teaching goals at grade and junior high levels. Discussion of the reports was held over from the board's January meeting.

The item is one of six listed for discussion on an otherwise routine agenda released today by Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett. The board will clean up several matters relating to the recent election and also consider exact sites for locating the new school buildings.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An Indian Airlines propjet airliner with 33 passengers and crew of four aboard was reported missing today en route to New Delhi from Srinagar, in the Kashmir Valley.

Airline officials said the twin-engine plane was hours overdue and presumed down. Civil and military aircraft were searching for it.

An airlines spokesman said the passengers were believed to be German, Swedish and Indian nationals.

Wood Cutters To Meet Friday

Floyd Pomeroy, St. Jacques timber jobber, has called a meeting of all wood producers of the Delta County areas at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 11, in the Legion Hall at Rapid River.

The meeting will discuss the problems of loggers and especially the new demands of the workmen's compensation laws enacted by the Michigan Legislature in 1965. The effect of the new insurance rates has been so drastic that wood buyers in this area report that dozens of jobbers who once ran crews of men producing sawlogs, cedar and pulpwood are now working by themselves, unable to pay the liability insurance rates.

Early American Fence Co. and American Timber Homes, Inc., are cooperating with Pomeroy, said President John Walbridge and have sent out 300 invitations to wood producers to attend the meeting.

It will be addressed by State Senator Thomas Schweigert (R-Petoskey), a professional forester. "He is unusually well qualified to understand the problems of wood harvest," said Walbridge, "and to seek remedies in the State Legislature. We are particularly concerned with the general problems of the small producers."

Family Life Topic Of Extension Meet

One of the least discussed areas of family life is the relationship between the middle and older generations of a family. And yet, as our population grows and more and more people live to the later years of life, many families are faced with problems and decisions that inevitably arise between generations.

Ingrid Tervonen, Michigan State University Extension Home Economist, announces that this subject, "Relationships with Older Parents", will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the Delta County Building in Escanaba at 1:15 P.M. Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Among the specific questions to which the meeting will be addressed is the matter of responsibilities between generations. What, for example, are the responsibilities of adult children for their parents? In turn, how can older parents have meaningful and satisfying relations with their adult children, and what is involved in building these relationships?

Dr. Margaret M. Jacobson, Michigan State University Extension Specialist in Family Life, will speak at the meeting. This meeting is part of the total program in family living education for county families conducted by Michigan State University. All interested homemakers are invited to attend.

Ishpeming Could Clinch Great Lakes Cage Crown

MARQUETTE — Ishpeming, heading for what may be its best season since the early 1950's, is on the spot in Upper Peninsula basketball play the next two weeks.

The Hematites, improving steadily under Coach Duane Phillips, have opportunity to grab the Great Lakes Conference championship by beating Negaunee Friday, then a week later will face Ironwood in a clash of the Peninsula's top Class B quintets.

Both Negaunee and Ironwood are old rivals of Ishpeming and some of the engagements with those two teams have produced cage classics still remembered by fans. The greatest was a four - overtime tournament struggle for the U.P. championship back in 1937, won by Ironwood, 17-15.

Most polls this season have rated the Red Devils as slightly better than Phillips' quintet, largely on the basis of Ironwood's 12-game victory string — snapped by Maple, Wis., last week. However, against common foe Iron River, Ishpeming won a 80-84 decision while Ironwood's margin was only 50-42.

Ishpeming's only setbacks in a 12-2 season were to Manistique by one point and to Escanaba by 20 points in mid-January. The Hematites' return en-agement at Negaunee this week (Ishpeming won the first 61-45) should pack the Miners' big Memorial gym once again. Negaunee, an up-and-down team which knocked off a good Stephenson five two weeks ago, could be a threat to Ishpeming's title hopes.

Munising, which gained a 57-51 victory over Negaunee in its last outing, is the only one in position to overtake the Hematites in the Great Lakes race. The Mustangs of Coach Dave Ghilardi are 8-2 and can finish with a 10-2 record by winning their remaining two games. Ishpeming will end with an 8-1 or 7-2 mark depending on the outcome of the Negaunee test.

Tough competition, both inside and outside their conferences, awaits several other title-seeking quintets.

Hancock, Copper Country leader, meets Lake Linden Friday, then goes to Marquette Baraga (14-1) Saturday for the week's topnotch non-league affair. Crystal Falls takes time out from its pursuit of Menominee Range pace-setter Iron River to host Gwinn, one of the three teams to stop the high-stepping Trojans early in the campaign.

Trout Creek, the only team left with an all-winning record in the Peninsula, hosts Watersmeet Thursday and then faces Bergland Friday. Bergland's only loss this winter was to Trout Creek in mid-December.

Connie Smashes Skating Record

Connie LeCaptain, moving up into the junior girls division for the first time this season, smashed the 440 yard record and placed second in total points in her division of the Wisconsin speed skating meet at Wau-paca over the weekend.

The 14 year old daughter of the Lyle LeCaptains of Escanaba, who celebrated her birthday in December, won the 440, placed second in the 880 and third in the 220 for 10 points, one less than the winner.

Jeanne LeCaptain, Connie's more experienced 17 year old sister, placed third in total points in the intermediate girls division. She was third in the 220 and 880 and fourth in the 440.

Little Lee, 5 year old brother of the speed skating sisters, made his racing debut as a Cub and took a fourth in the 220 event.

The LeCaptains were competing for the first time this winter and will travel to Alpena for the Michigan state championships this weekend.

Spartans Share Big Ten Lead With Michigan

ANN ARBOR (AP) — It didn't take long for Michigan to bounce back from its Big Ten basketball setback early last week.

The Wolverines jumped to a quick 6-0 lead and led all the way in drubbing Indiana 93-76 Saturday.

The victory, coupled with Michigan State's 79-65 triumph over Wisconsin, kept the two state schools in a tie for the conference lead. Each is 6-1 in league play. Michigan's unbeaten string in the Big Ten was snapped by Illinois last Tuesday.

Cazzie Russell, who finished with 32 points, got 11 of them in the first four minutes to pace the Wolverines to a 16-5 lead. Indiana rallied a couple of times but the Wolverines took command on the boards—outbounding the smaller Hoosiers 59-38—and never were in serious trouble.

Coach Dave Strack moved Russell to the low post position close to the basket along the foul lane, explaining:

"He's tough and he has a size advantage, so he went there right away. We didn't think they could handle him there."

John Clawson scored only three points in the first half but contributed 19 in the second, including a pair of baskets early in the final 20 minutes to push Michigan to a 47-30 lead. Indiana, paced by Max Walker's 24 points, rallied and closed

Northern Wins By Big Margin Against Ferris

By The Associated Press

Out-of-towners had a field day against Western Michigan and the University of Detroit in college basketball Saturday night.

Kent State, overcoming a 52-51 halftime deficit on its Ohio court, rolled over WMU 106-87. Iowa expanded on a 56-36 halftime lead as it trimmed Detroit 107-73 in a basketball doubleheader at Chicago Stadium. Loyola beat Marquette 85-84 in the other game.

Exceptions to the trend were Michigan and Michigan State. They stayed in a tie for the Big Ten Conference lead.

Michigan defeated Indiana 93-76 behind the hot shooting of Cazzie Russell, who got 32 points.

Michigan State rallied after its starting forward, Stan Washington, fouled out and beat Wisconsin 79-65.

In other contests, Northern Michigan walloped Ferris State 117-65. Albion edged Chicago 51. Hope defeated Kalamazoo 85-81. Calvin overpowered Olivet 108-74. Northwestern beat Aquinas 105-100. Detroit Tech whipped Cleveland State 83-81. Buffalo conquered Wayne State 80-76. Cedarville won over Detroit Business 88-83. Davenport defeated Indiana Tech 106-99, and Goshen of Indiana defeated Spring Arbor 100-76.

The Broncos lost their 10th game against five victories over all and their fifth against two victories in the Mid-American Conference. Despite Reggie Laceyfield's 22 points and John Scholten's 20, WMU fell before a Kent State drive in the second half. The Golden Flashes snapped an eight-game losing streak, bringing their record to 6-11 over-all and 2-8 in the conference.

Iowa scored on 42 of 88 floor shots while Detroit hit on 26 of 64. Titan Dore Murray led all scorers with 26 points but Iowa got 24 from Ben McGilmer and 22 from Chris Pervall in a more balanced attack.

Northern Michigan, third-ranked small college team in the nation had five players scoring in double figures as it dumped Ferris. Gene Summers scored 30 points and Brian Ferguson 22 for NMU. The Wildcats took their 10th straight victory, making their record 11-2. Ferris is 3-12.

Jim Hamilton's four free throws in the final 25 seconds gave Albion victory over Chicago. Ed Stephenson of Albion led in scoring with 23 points. Albion is 6-9. Chicago is 7-4.

Engadine Bows To Brimley In Marathon Tilt

BRIMLEY — The Brimley Bays overcame Engadine in a four overtime marathon here Saturday night, winning the Eastern Upper Peninsula Conference game, 73-70.

The Bays rallied in the final period to tie the score, 55-55, at the end of regulation time. It was knotted again at the end of the first extra period, 63-63, and 65-65 after the second overtime. It was 67-67 after another overtime period and Brimley decided it in the fourth extra stanza when Clint Parish scored six points to Engadine's three.

Parish, who tallied 12 points in the overtime periods, took scoring honors for the night with 31. Richard Ozanish topped the Engadine attack with 22.

Sanders Steals Palmer's Style For Top Money

PALE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Knocking six strokes off par in the final eight holes is something right out of Arnold Palmer's famed "charge" book of golf.

Doug Sanders simply stole the idea and today is the 1966 winner of the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

To be more accurate, Sanders was seven shots under par for the last nine holes.

For it was in the first hole of a sudden - death playoff with Palmer that Sanders got a birdie 2 and collected the winner's $15,000.

Sanders' shot, a 15-foot putt on the 145-yard 15th hole at the Indian Wells Country Club, capped a day of dramatics in the final round of the 90-hole, five-day Hope affair.

Today Sanders, Palmer and their fellow pro golfers head for the $60,000 Phoenix, Ariz., Open. Sanders came from six strokes back at the outset to shoot 53-51—66 over the par 36-36—72 course. In the last eight holes he had four birdies and an eagle for a 90-hole total of 348.

Palmer, only two shots off the pace, shot a 70 to tie Sanders at the 18th hole when he holed a four-footer for a birdie.

The playoff went to Indian Wells' par 3, 15th hole, since NBC had its television cameras there.

Sanders hit a good three-quarter 7-iron to the green, 15 feet from the cup.

"I hit a bad 8-iron," said Palmer, who went far wide to the right.

Palmer pitched back and went 14 feet past the pin. Sanders putted in and that was it. Palmer's consolation was $8,000.

Few if any playoffs are ever started on a par 3 hole. So Sanders' two strokes, counting the difference between first and second place, were worth $3,500 apiece.

Harold (Catfish) Kneese, the people's choice and the unheralded leader through the second, third and fourth rounds, remained in the picture to the end despite a last-round 73.

The little guy from Aiken, S.C., canned a 20-foot putt on the gallery-jammed 18th for an eagle 3 and a tie for third place with a total score 350.

Young Don Massengale, Mike Souchak, Al Bessellink, Phil Rodgers and others took their best cracks in a round that was played under drippy skies for most of the day.

Casualties at the 18th were many. Rodgers' second shot buried in the mud and he hit out — into a trap — to lose any hope for the Hope.

Souchak, with closing scores of 67-69—69, missed the green and overshot his pitch shot.

So Souchak, Rodgers and Dave Marr tied with Kneese.

Farrell Suffers Initial Setback In Track Action

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I just laid back too long," said Tommy Farrell after suffering his first defeat of the indoor track season.

"I think he was a little tired," said Olan Cassell, the Olympian from Nutley, N.J., whose victory over Farrell marked one of the major upsets of the season.

Each could be a little bit right.

Farrell, pointing toward a showdown with Canada's Bill Crothers two weeks from now, relied a little too much on his finishing kick in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games Saturday night and finished second to Cassell in the 600.

Each was timed in 1:12.8, Cassell holding off the St. John's ace by about a foot. The result was a shocker, since Farrell is generally regarded as the United States' best middle-distance man.

He was hard-pressed in winning the 1,000 in New York the night before, however, and the consecutive meets may have been too much for him.

Cassell's triumph, incidentally, may have made him a candidate for the half mile in the New York Athletic Club Games Feb. 18, when Farrell and Crothers have their first meeting of the season.

And George Young, the Olympic steeplechaser from Casa Grande, Ariz., probably insured himself of some more major invitations when he ambushed favored Bill Baillie, the New Zealand veteran, in the two-mile. The time was 8:50 flat.

Young, making his first indoor start of the season, simply ran away from the stumpy little Baillie in the last 2½ laps and won it by 25 yards.

The upsets of Baillie and Farrell left high jumper Richard Ross, Baton Rouge, La., and New Zealand miler John Davies the only double winners from the New York-Philadelphia Friday - Saturday doubleheader. And neither of them was talking about it very much.

Ross, a consistent 7-footer, took the high jump on fewer misses at 6-10 in Philadelphia, and Davies plodded in with a 4:15.1 mile, the slowest winning effort of the season in this country.

John Pannel of Los Angeles turned in probably the best performance, a dandy 16-6¼ pole vault, just 3¼ inches short of his indoor record. He failed again, however, in his quest of an indoor 17 footer.

Wings Fit To Be Tied; Share NHL First Place With Montreal, Chicago

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel — and the Red Wings themselves—were fit to be tied after playing a pair of tie games over the weekend.

The 2-2 deadlock with Montreal Saturday and a 3-3 tie with Boston Sunday forced the Red Wings to share first place in the National Hockey League with the Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks.

Boston downed New York, 5-3, and Toronto blasted Chicago, 5-2, in Saturday's other games.

Montreal blanked the Rangers 4-0, and Chicago bounced back to edge the Maple Leafs, 3-2, Sunday.

"I don't know if Boston was that determined or whether we just didn't have any determination ourselves," Abel said.

The Red Wings twice blew two-goal leads and saw the Bruins score three times in the final period to gain their first point in 10 meetings between the two teams this season.

Detroit almost suffered another crippling injury to a defenseman when Gary Bergman limped off midway through the final period. Bergman said he suffered a bruised knee and expected to be ready when the team plays in Chicago Wednesday.

John McKenzie's goal at 12:29 capped the comeback for the Bruins who sent 19 shots on the Detroit net in the final period and outshot the Red Wings, 35-26, in the game.

John Bucyk scored 36 seconds into the final period and Tom Williams got the other one for the Bruins at 6:08. Just 58 seconds after Paul Henderson had given the Red Wings a two-goal margin for the second time in the game.

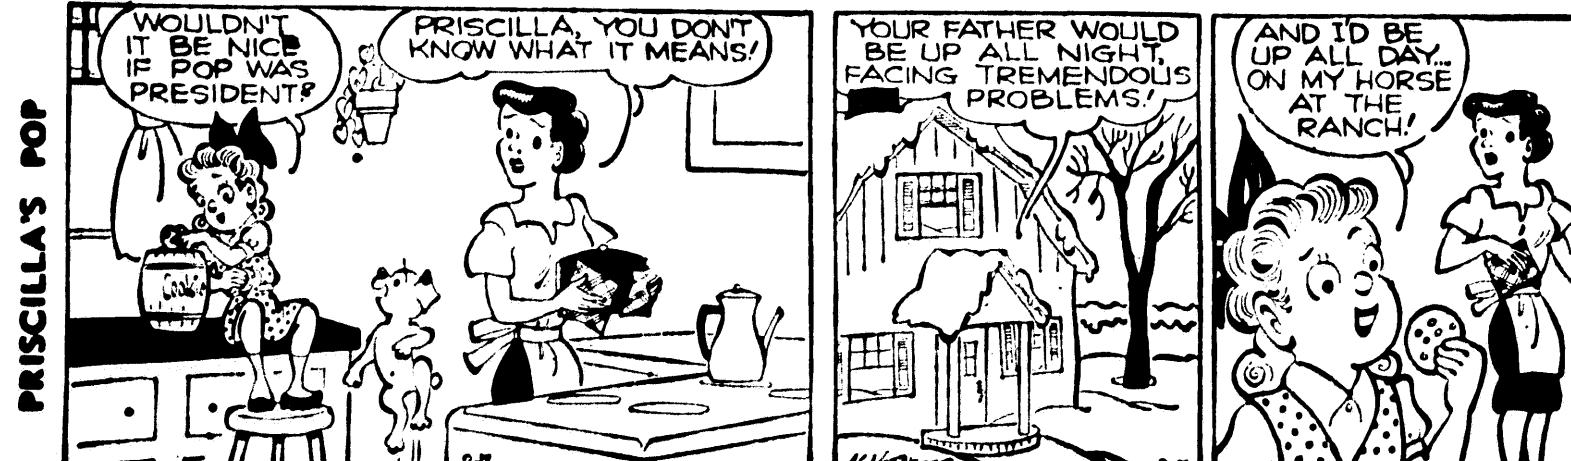

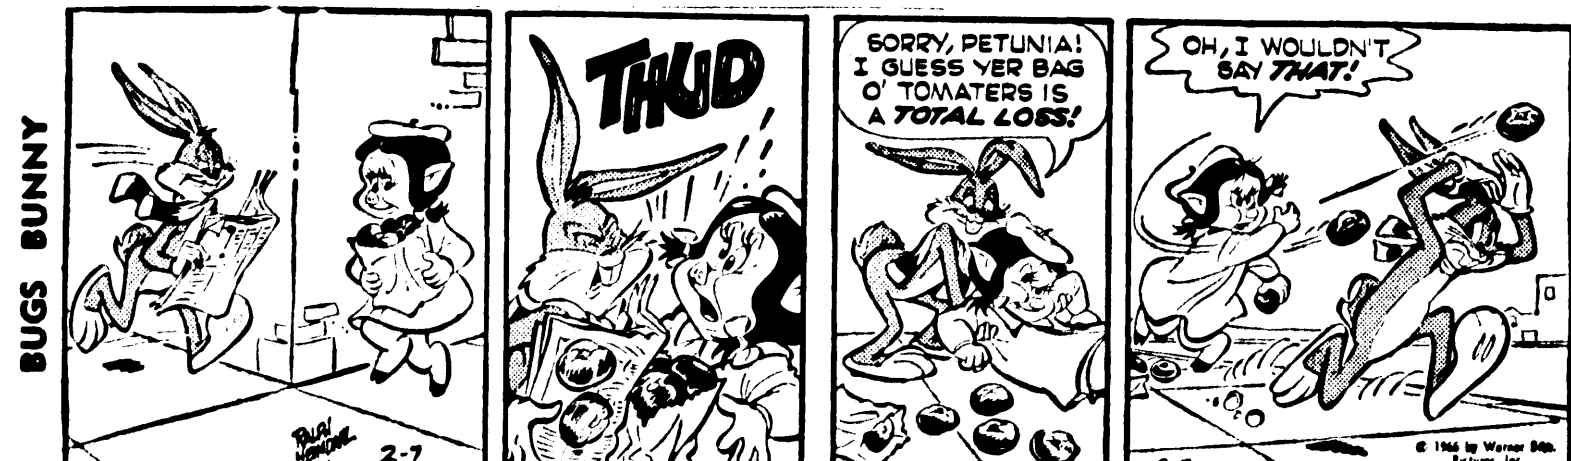

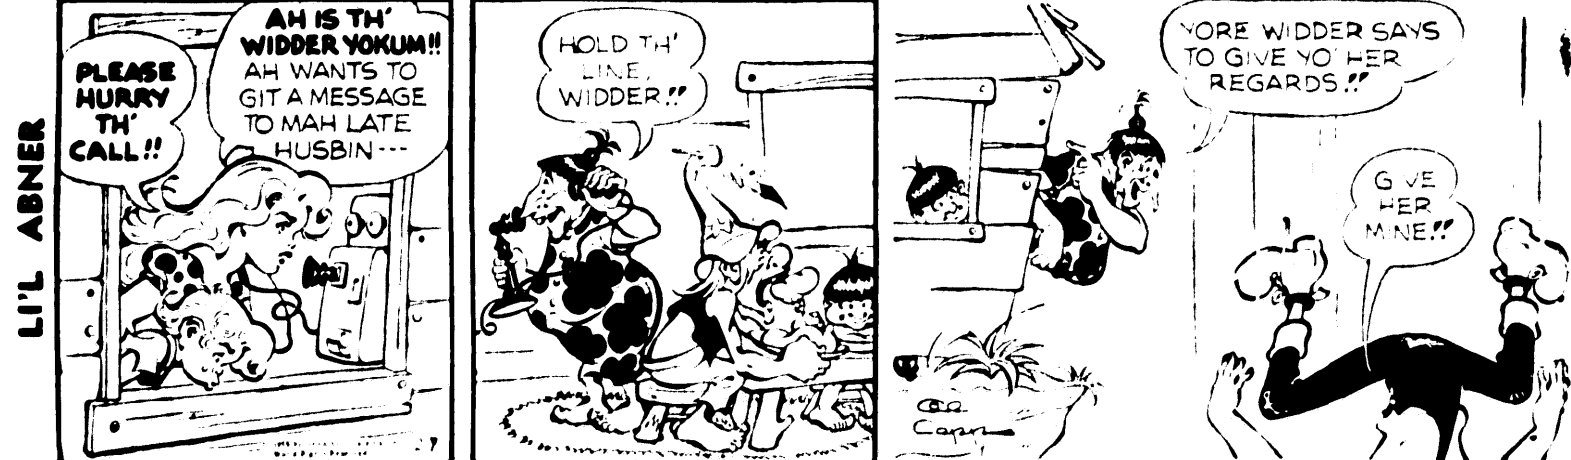

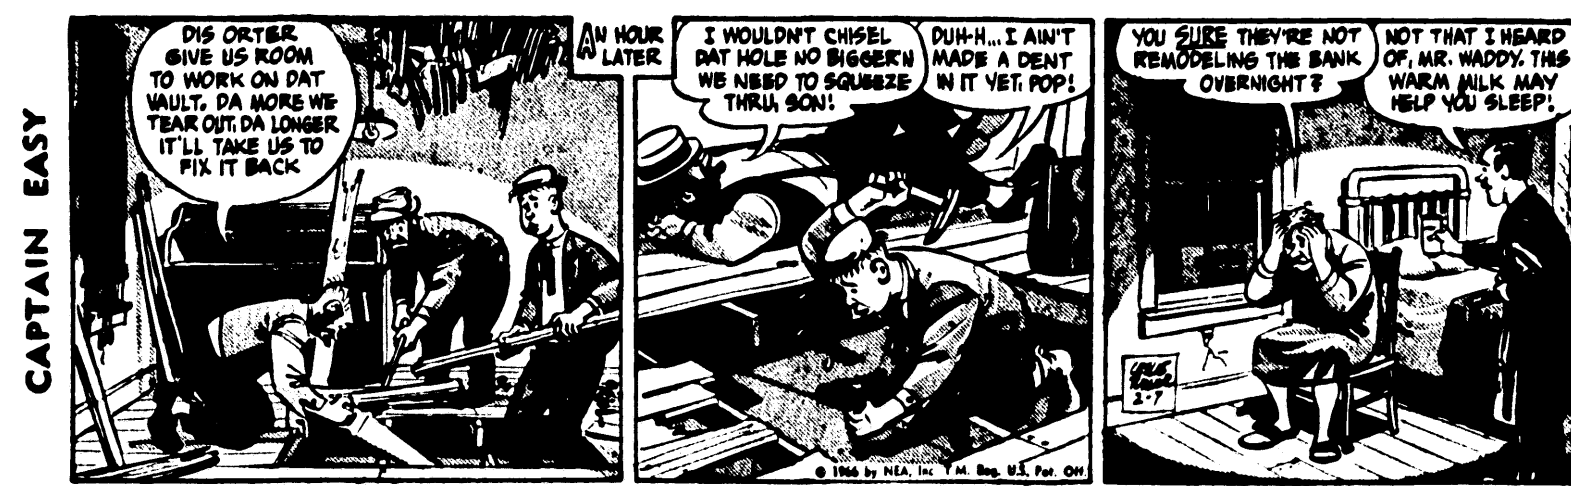

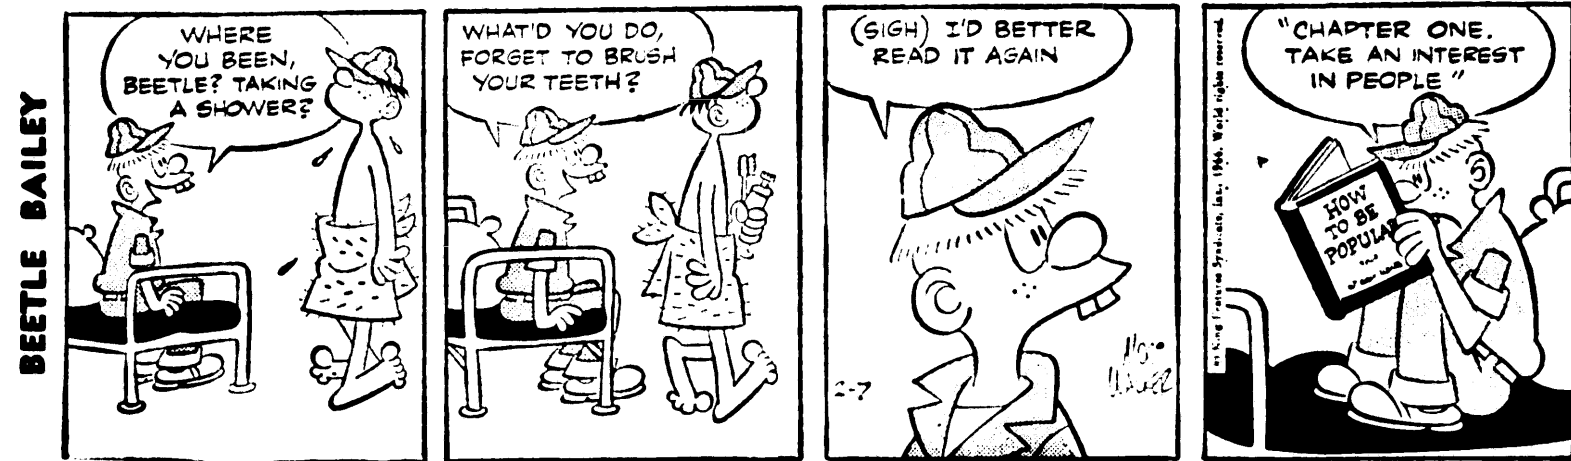

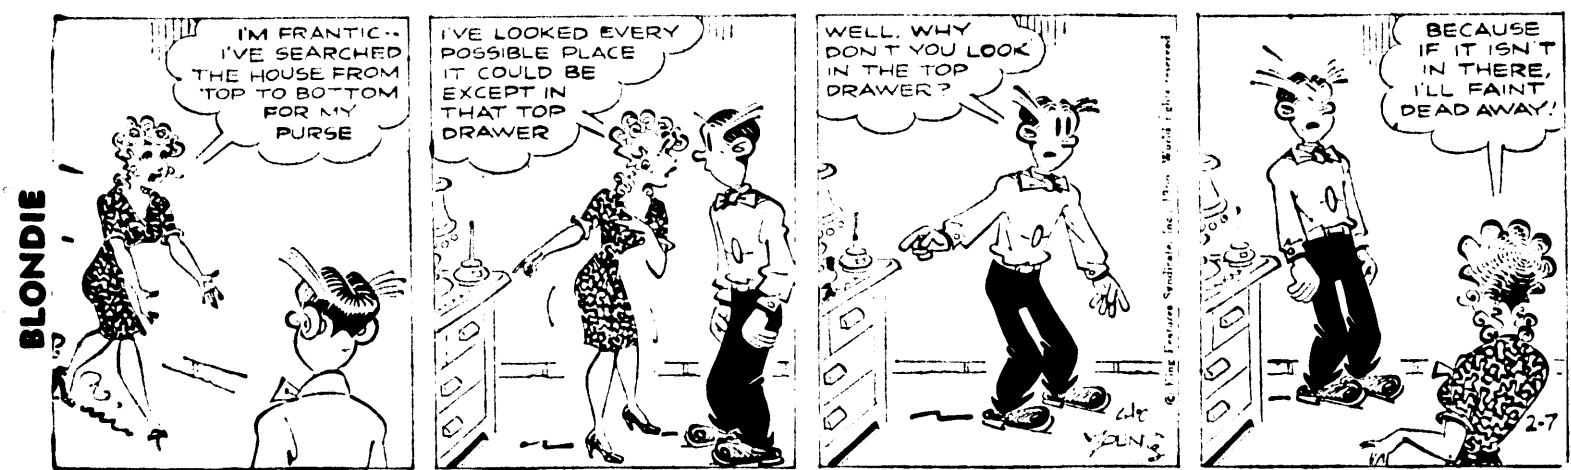

Alex Delvecchio scored for the Red Wings in the first period and Ron Murphy added the

Spartan Rally Spills Badgers

EAST LANSING (AP) - Michigan State rallied just when it looked like it might face a let-down Saturday and remains tied with arch-rival Michigan for the Big Ten basketball lead.

The Spartans scored six points after starting forward Stan Washington had fouled out and went on to defeat Wisconsin 79-65 Saturday.

The teams battled on even terms until the flurry. The score was tied six times in the first half and changed hands four more times before the Spartans took a 31-29 halftime lead.

Wisconsin moved to its only lead, a 23-20 advantage in the first half, before two baskets by Bill Curtis and one by Washington put the Spartans ahead to stay.

The Badgers tied the score five times after that but never went ahead again.

Curtis and John Bailey sparked the Spartans' surge. Curtis got 17 of his 27 points in the second half and Bailey added 16 of his game total of 19 in the final 20 minutes.

Wisconsin coach John Erickson said the Spartans "took on a new determination" after Washington left the game.

Mark Zubor paced the Badgers with 16 points. Ken Gustafson added 13.

Michigan State, now 6-1 in league play and 13-4 overall, holds a one-half game lead with Michigan over Illinois which edged Ohio State, 78-77, Saturday.

The latest signings brought to 32 the number of players under contract for the coming season.

Unsigned were pitchers Fritz Fisher, Bill Graham, Vern Holtgrave, Julio Navarro and Daryl Patterson; infielders Norm Cash, Ray Oyler and Bill Roman and outfielder Don Demeter.

Dukes Upset Friar Quint

By The Associated Press

The music from the locker room tape recorder might have been melodious, but Jimmy Walker and his Providence teammates definitely were off key.

As a result, Duquesne's unheralded basketball team edged fourth-ranked Providence 78-76 in overtime Sunday in Pittsburgh, less than 24 hours after the Friars escaped from Loretto, Pa., with a 50-48 victory over even less-heralded St. Francis.

The loss, which snapped a 10-game winning streak, was only Providence's second — both on the road — against 15 victories. Whether they win or lose, though, the Friars always have a tape recorder in the locker room for psychological entertainment. Sounds of rock 'n' roll can be heard both before and after each game.

"It goes where we go; it relaxes us," Walker explained. The Friars had a different feeling after Sunday's game, though.

They led 42-32 at halftime, but the Dukes rallied for a 68-68 tie at the end of regulation time on Phil Washington's 15-foot jump shot with 40 seconds left.

Providence then had to go into overtime minus Walker, the country's seventh-leading scorer. He fouled out in the last minute of regulation time.

Duquesne, now 11-6, clinched the triumph on a free throw each by Rich Carberg and Jimmy Smith in the final 20 seconds.

Before fouling out, Walker scored 20 points. Two other members of the Top Ten barely escaped with victories Saturday.

Fifth-ranked Loyola of Chicago edged Marquette 85-84 on Corky Bell's last-second tap in, and Cincinnati, No. 10, nipped Louisville 56-54 as John Howard threw in a jump shot with three seconds left. Loyola's victory was its 14th straight and 16th against one defeat.

Four other teams in the Top Ten rolled to easy victories. Unbeaten Kentucky, No. 2, gained its 17th triumph, crushing Georgia 74-50 and taking another step toward the Southeastern Conference title.

Seventh-ranked Kansas walked past Missouri 77-54, No. 8 St. Joseph's trounced Temple 105-74 and Michigan, No. 9, whipped host Indiana 93-76.

Top-ranked Duke, Vanderbilt, No. 3, and Texas Western, No. 6, did not play. One of the most significant results of the day came at Washington State where the Cougars edged UCLA 84-83 on Dennis Kioke's two free throws with five seconds left.

The loss, the Bruins' first to Washington State since 1959, dropped the defending national champs behind Oregon State and Stanford in the Pacific Athletic Conference.

Oregon State took the PAC lead by nipping host Stanford 56-54 on Rick Whelan's field goal in the last second.

In other close games, Dick Nemelka's basket with 11 seconds to play gave Brigham Young a 94-93 road victory over Utah, Nebraska trimmed Oklahoma State 45-41 on the road and Bob Johnson's two free throws with 14 seconds left carried Illinois past Ohio State 78-77.

Celtics Battle To Keep Crown; Outscrap 76ers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, striving for an eighth straight National Basketball Association title, are gripped in an Eastern Division dogfight — and reacting in championship fashion.

"We don't disgust too easily, we just go ahead and play," Coach Red Auerbach said with a note of satisfaction Sunday after his Celtics repulsed a challenge by Philadelphia in edging the 76ers 100-99 in a bruising duel of divisional giants.

The victory, sparked by the sharp-shooting of Johnny Havlicek in the fourth period, enabled the Celtics to boost their lead over the 76ers to 2½ games. Cincinnati moved back into second place, two games behind, by edging San Francisco 117-116.

In the only other game played, St. Louis turned back Los Angeles 100-105.

"We've lost a lot of games we should have won and we've suffered a lot of injuries," Auerbach said. "But when you start feeling sorry for yourself, you're going to get whipped. And we're not about to start feeling sorry for ourselves."

"We've won key games from Cincinnati and this one from Philadelphia is a real big one. But we've got a lot of tough games ahead and can't let up. This race is going down to the wire."

The Celtics stormed to an 11-point lead in the first period, but Philadelphia rallied to tie the count 49-49 at halftime. The 76ers edged in front 74-72 after three periods, before Havlicek caught fire in the final 12 minutes, scoring 14 of his 22 points in the final quarter.

The former Ohio State star's set shot with 50 seconds remaining pulled Boston from behind after the game had been tied 21 times. In the closing seconds, he missed a free throw, but came back to steal the ball from Chet Walker in helping to preserve the slim advantage.

The game, played before 11,500 Boston Garden fans and a national television audience, was marked by playoff tension, with tempers flaring in the rough going. Dave Gambee of Philadelphia and Tom Sanders of Boston drew fouls for a tussle in the first period.

Bobsled Event Canceled After Fatal Accident

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — For the first time in 32 world bobsled events, there will be no four-man champion this year because of the death of a West German driver.

A jury, comprised of officials of the sport, canceled the event Sunday rather than try to complete it Sunday night or later.

Most of the competitors supported the decision, but it was denounced as "hasty and unsportsmanlike" by the organizer of the ill-fated championship.

The action stemmed from the death Saturday night of 26-year-old Anton Pensberger, whose sled missed a curve during the first run down the 1,740-meter ice chute, shot over the rim and crashed into a grove of trees.

Competition continued Saturday night until halfway through the second run when Pensberger's death, the first bobsled fatality at this Alpine resort in four years, was announced. Only nine of 17 sleds made the second run.

The other three members of Pensberger's sled were hospitalized. Brakeman Ludwig Siebert, 27, underwent surgery, and doctors said he was somewhat improved. Helmut Wurzer and Roland Eberhardt were reported out of danger.

Even before the jury met, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France said they would not continue, leaving Canada, the United States, Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Romania to await the decision.

The jury, in its announcement, mentioned poor track conditions. Early in the day warm weather had opened a wide crack in one of the chutes' 16 curves.

However, the executive committee of the Cortina Bobsled Club, organizer of the event, contended the chute was in good enough condition to go on.

But contestants praised the jury's decision.

Italy, which was first and second in the standings when competition was halted, proposed that four gold medals be presented to Germany — one to Pensberger's memory and one to each of his crewmen.

Fred Fortune of Lake Placid, N.Y., piloted the U.S. No. 1 sled in 1:16.79, and Gil Jones of Plattsburgh, N.Y., brought the No. 2 sled home in 1:16.85 on their only runs. This placed them third and fourth in the standings after one run.

Supreme Court Design Finished

LANSING (AP) — While state officials ponder the fate of the aging capitol, a new Supreme Court building — anchor of the opposite end of the capitol development complex—is reaching final design status.

What began as a structure surrounded with the traditional columns has evolved into an airy building-within-a-building. Present estimates of its designer, Detroit Architect Sigmond Blum, are that the structure should be completed by late 1969 at a cost of $4.2 million.

The court chamber itself is a two-story-high building elevated on its own pilings so that pedestrians can walk beneath it.

Standing behind the court and in effect encircling and hovering about it with four-story-high arms is a second building housing offices and the state law library.

The 25-foot-high court room itself is designed to be free of exterior influences. There are no windows, but a skylight over the justices—both practical and symbolic—will diffuse light onto their work.

A final decision on exterior material is yet to be made.

Circus Tamer Wrestles Lions

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Jean Charles Zerbini of Sarasota—husband, father and businessman—drives an air-conditioned car to work each morning and comes home looking like he's been wrestling lions.

He has. Zerbini, 23, is an eighth-generation lion tamer who will replace the late Clyde Beatty, America's best known animal trainer, in the featured center ring of the touring Shrine Circus this season.

His act with 11 lions has the polish of 200 years—the time his forebears toured Europe and the Mediterranean countries making the name Zerbini synonymous with circus.

Five years ago Zerbini brought his famous name across the Atlantic, added "Tarzan" for its appeal to U.S. audiences, and set out to carve a niche for the Zerbini in American circus annals.

He will be near to doing this if he can fill Beatty's shoes. Beatty, 61, succumbed to cancer last summer after 17 years as a Shrine Circus headliner. He survived more than 100 maulings over his 40-year career.

Born in North Africa, Zerbini and his aerialist wife, Jacqueline, live in a converted trailer home with their 20-month-old daughter, Patricia, in a circus community west of Sarasota.

Zerbini claims his act is the most daring in the business, capped by throwing a 400-pound lion to the floor of the cage barehanded.

Few who watch it will be inclined to disagree. Coached by his father, Charles, 53, who lost a leg to the cats at age 15, Zerbini is calm as a kindergarten teacher as he puts his animals through their paces—jumping, dancing, and acting as if to devour him.

"You have to show you're not afraid," says Zerbini. "But if he (the lion) is going to breakfast on you he is going to breakfast on you."

"You can train a lion but you cannot tame him."

Lutheran College

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Lutheran Community College opened its doors officially Sunday in dedication ceremonies, but work on the school won't be finished until April. Dean Donald W. Morrison said, "we are trying to set it so that the college is a self-contained area, with all the facilities necessary for commuting students."

NAMED FROM ALGONQUIAN Lake Michigan, third largest of the Great Lakes, was named from the Algonquian Indian term for a large body of water, "Michigama" or "Missichigan-in."

Great Imposter Is In Monastery

WIEN, Mo. (AP) — Ferdinand Waldo Demara, nicknamed "The Great Imposter" for successfully impersonating a surgeon, a college professor and a civil engineer, is living as a postulant in an interfaith monastery.

"I expect to stay here the rest of my life," said Demara, 43, Friday when he was interviewed in the quarters of the Brotherhood of Christian Unity. "I have come here to Wien to dedicate my life to Christian unity, to work and prayer," he said. "This is the only interfaith community in the world."

Demara, subject of a book and movie titled, "The Great Imposter," picked a desolate place to hide from the publicity he says follows him whenever he is uncovered. Wien, with a population of 35, is away from major highways in a farming area of northern Missouri. The membership of the brotherhood stands at five.

Labor Short For Cucumber Harvest

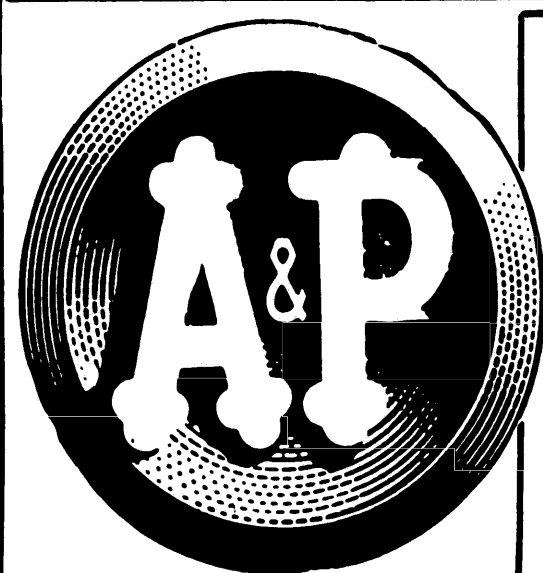

LANSING (AP) — State and U.S. Labor Department agents planned to meet with spokesmen for Michigan's cucumber growers today to discuss how to overcome problems of recruiting farm labor.

"Recruitment difficulties will be doubled this year," predicted Malcolm Lovell Jr., chief of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. Lovell said the meeting was called to plan how to provide the estimated 20,000 to 30,000 workers that will be needed to harvest cucumbers grown for pickles.

It is said that King Ramesses II was the pharaoh of the Exodus.
